CONTENTS

Acknowledgments

Special thanks to writer Jan Hersey for initiating, collecting, and organizing much of the information in this guide. Thanks, also, to Betty Carteret for collaborating with Jan on research, editing, and organizing. The guide would not be possible without their dedication to reducing waste and envisioning this community resource.

Additional thanks to Skagit County Waste Reduction Recycling Education Specialist Callie Martin and to research volunteers Michelle Marquardt and Ruth Taylor.

Recycle It Right!

Are you drowning in the waste stream of modern life? Whether faced with the byproducts of COVID-19-induced closet cleaning or a desire to declutter and live with less, we're all faced with the challenge of managing the excesses of our lives.

Beyond the Bin provides the resources and motivation to take charge!

Develop the habits below to preserve limited resources, curb expanding landfills, slow marine pollution, reduce clutter-induced stress . . . and live more simply.

Manage your resources to avoid waste. Here's how:

- Refuse single-use materials and items destined for the garbage.
- Reduce your use of toxic materials and those with a limited lifespan.
- Repurpose items creatively, finding new ways to re-use things that outlive their original purpose.
- Recirculate unneeded, usable items by donating, selling, or gifting them. Shop for gently used items instead of buying new.
- Re-imagine a world that makes the best use of our limited resources.
- Recycle—as a last resort, returning materials to their original chemical components for future re-use or refashioning into new products.

How to Use this Guide

Part I - Recyclable Items – Find convenient outlets for those unwanted items in this alphabetized list of items and materials. Keep track of your favorites on the Notes page at the end of this guide.

Part II - Recycling/Re-use Outlets – Find here the addresses, hours, contact info, and useful details for the retailers and outlets listed in Part I.

Part III - Municipal, County & Curbside Recycling Resources – Here are details for drop-off and curbside pickup recycling services.

When in doubt, call ahead, details can change over time.

Avoid Wishful Recycling

A clean stream of materials is essential to recycling success. Place only listed, accepted items in recycling bins. Recycling companies send truckloads "contaminated" with unacceptable items to the landfill—sadly, thousands of tons of otherwise acceptable recyclables never see a second life.

* Those button cells that contain mercury must be disposed of as hazardous waste. Do not drop off at these locations.

Understanding Battery Types

Household batteries fall into two main types—rechargeable (or secondary) batteries and non-rechargeable (or primary) batteries. Within both categories, some are non-toxic and recyclable; others are toxic and must be disposed of as hazardous waste. A battery's chemical content is marked on the battery itself. For recycling, separate and bag batteries according to chart types.

Safety: Batteries are a leading cause of garbage facility fires. Safely store and handle batteries for recycling. All lithium batteries must be taped on both ends as a precaution against sparking, then stored in a plastic or cardboard box for recycling.

Rechargeable batteries (Secondary) contain hazardous metals and should be recycled. These include: Small, sealed lead-acid (SSLA/SLA) gel • Lithium-ion (Li-ion) (tape terminals) • Nickel-Cadmium (Ni-Cad/Ni-Cd) • Nickel Metal Hydride (NiMH) • Nickel-Zinc (Ni-ZN).

Non-rechargeable, single-use household batteries (Primary) are non-toxic and recyclable: Alkaline (AA, D-cell, 9v, etc.) • (LR) & zinc-carbon (ZnC) • Lithium (CR) primary (tape ends) • Silver oxide (SR) • Zinc-air.

Button cell batteries (watches, hearing aids, remotes, etc.) must be recycled. Mercury button cells, however, are toxic and must be disposed of as hazardous waste.

Automotive batteries include Lead-acid • Valve-regulated lead-acid (VRLA).

Hybrid vehicle batteries: For recycling info, contact your hybrid car dealer or visit <https://greenbeanbattery.com>

Take the Carseat Challenge

Less than six years old? Sell or donate your carseat to extend its usable life.

Beyond six years (find expiration or manufacture date on underside of seat), carseats are considered too old to be safe. To recycle, check online and/or with the retailer from whom the carseat was purchased (Target and Walmart hold Fall carseat recycling events). Or, search for an online video to help you dismantle your carseat to clean, replace, or recycle components.

- According to the Environmental Protection Agency, Americans throw away 2-3 million tons of electronics a year! Computers, TVs, and other electronics contain heavy metals and other hazardous materials that should not go into a landfill. Under the Washington state E-Cycle law, recycling is free for TVs, computers, laptops, monitors, tablets, e-readers, and portable DVD players. Drop off peripherals and other electronics at participating retailers for recycling at no charge.
- Broadband equipment (Comcast, Wavecable, etc.) is rented and must be returned to broadband service provider.

FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

To recycle, examine canister label for product manufacturer’s name, typically in large red or black letters. Check manufacturer’s website for recycling instructions and how to handle a unit with an active recall. (For extinguishers made prior to 1960, contact your local fire department.)

For fire extinguishers that can be refilled, call your local fire department for information. For disposal or recycling, extinguishers first must be emptied. Take to your local fire department or follow prescribed safety directions in link below, assuring pressure gauge needle has fallen below zero. Next, unscrew plastic top and trigger, segregating steel, plastic, or other materials for recycling at appropriate outlets listed in this guide.

Why Buy New . . .

when you can save money and reduce waste by repurposing something you already have or buy the item, gently used, at your local thrift store—and , for a fraction of the cost? A growing community of folks is doing just that. Plus, websites and apps, such as OfferUp, Freecycle, Craigslist, and Poshmark, help you buy and sell items that might otherwise end up in the landfill.

We all can rethink what we really need, and, likely, honestly say we have too much stuff! Check out The Story of Stuff to learn about the challenges created by all the stuff we buy and throw away (<http://storyofstuff.org>).

MEDICATION & PHARMACEUTICAL DISPOSAL

<https://www.skagitcounty.net/Departments/Health/medicinereturn.htm>

Risks: Never put medicines down the drain, as they're not removed by water treatment plants and harm the environment. Unused, unwanted, and expired medications pose potential risks for drug abuse and accidental poisoning. Proper medication disposal guidelines at <https://MED-project.org/locations/skagit>

Free disposal: Follow Skagit County's new Secure Medicine Return program to safely dispose of unneeded prescription and over-the-counter medicines for free by

- placing them in a secure drop box, referred to as a "kiosk";
- placing in mail-back envelopes available at locations county-wide;
- ordering free mail-back envelopes;
- packaging, as below, and disposing of at local take-back events.

Trash Disposal Regulations: Preferably, follow above kiosk and mailer disposal guidelines (locations below); if necessary to place in trash,

- remove meds from original container;
- mix with undesirable, absorbent substance, such as cat litter, oatmeal, or used coffee grounds;
- place mixture in lidded, disposable container, e.g., empty margarine tub or sealable bag;
- conceal or remove all personal information, including Rx number, from original container (scratch off or cover with permanent marker or duct tape);
- place sealed drug mixture container and empty original container in trash.

Know Your Plastics

Plastic grocery-type bags are made of plastic film and may be recycled at most grocery stores.

Plastic film items may be recycled at specialty outlets if they are clean and dry: plastic shopping bags, grocery, food storage (zip top), and produce bags, rinsed garden amendments bags, plastic shipping envelopes, non-tearable cereal box liners, bread bags, dry cleaning bags, case wrap (e.g., water bottles), air pillows, bubble wrap, product overwrap (e.g., toilet paper), newspaper bags.

Not recyclable: bio-degradable/compostable bags or packaging, pre-washed salad mix bags, frozen food bags, candy bar wrappers, chip bags, six-pack rings.

Read more at <https://www.plasticfilmrecycling.org/>.

When All Else Fails

Hoping to move along something not listed here? Type the item name and "recycle" into a computer search bar. Voila! Outlets for silver, china, vintage clothing, even soiled linens (try your local dog groomer). Create your own online store on Etsy or Ebay. Or tune up your tool skills and dismantle a useless item into its recyclable components. There's likely a YouTube video ready to help. Make it your personal challenge to avoid the landfill!

Reduce Your Use of Chemicals

RESEARCH THE PROBLEM

When faced with an issue that seems to require a hazardous chemical solution, ask yourself, "Is there an alternate solution that's non-toxic (has no warning label) or less toxic (has a caution label)? Take time to do a bit of research.

BUY LESS

When you do buy a hazardous product, buy only the amount you'll use up within a reasonable period. Consider donating or sharing (rather than storing) leftovers.

AVOID AEROSOLS

Aerosol cans contain valuable metals and, when completely empty, should be recycled: remove plastic lid and nozzle and recycle materials separately. However, if a propellant has been exhausted but product remains, can must be disposed of as hazardous waste.

Part III

MUNICIPAL, COUNTY & CURBSIDE RECYCLING GUIDELINES

REQUIRED MUNICIPAL RECYCLING SERVICES

Anacortes – Burlington – Mt Vernon – Sedro-Woolley

The cities of Anacortes, Burlington, Mt Vernon, and Sedro-Woolley provide curbside recycling and food/yard waste pickup services through contracts with Waste Management. Service is billed through each municipality's utility services. Contact appropriate city office to establish service or for further information. (All hazardous wastes must be disposed of at Skagit County Transfer Site, 14104 Ovenell Road; 360-424-9532.)

OTHER MUNICIPALITIES & UNINCORPORATED HOUSEHOLDS

Households in unincorporated areas of Skagit County and in areas that do not provide Waste Management curbside recycling can recycle as follows:

- All may dispose of recyclable materials as listed below at any Skagit County drop-off site (for those east of Hwy 9, this is the only option);
- Households west of Hwy 9 without required recycling service also may contract for individual residential curbside service through Waste Management (see pp 44-46).

Follow recycling guidelines!
Find alternative outlets for unaccepted items in this Beyond the Bin guide.

SKAGIT COUNTY RECYCLING RESOURCES

The following recycling sites serve all county households for trash, recycling, and hazardous waste disposal. Ensure recyclable materials are clean and dry: as needed, clean with a quick rinse; remove lids (labels okay); place sorted materials loosely in onsite bins (not bagged or boxed). Materials soiled with food, dirt, or other materials not accepted.

Guidelines at
<https://www.skagitcounty.net/Departments/PublicWorksSolidWaste/recyclemain.htm>

All Skagit County sites accept the following materials:

Aluminum & tin cans (no lids unless attached to cans or inside crushed can)

Antifreeze (up to 5 gal/mo.)

Appliances

Batteries (see recycling table p 3)

Cardboard

Glass bottles & jars

Mixed paper

Motor oil (up to 5 gal/mo.)

Plants, flowers, yard trimmings (max 4-in. diam, 4-ft length)

NO: compostable serveware or bags • plastic bags • fats, oils, grease • diapers & pet waste • glass • liquids • metal

But, why bother?

Here's why—recycling the plastic we use is a critical piece of the solution to the hazards of ocean plastics. Recycling reduces global warming through reduced resource extraction and production; it also saves you money, conserves valuable landfill space, and leaves you feeling like you're part of the solution to a world-wide problem. And, it's simply the right thing to do. Now, the new Beyond the Bin Recycling Guide makes it easy, too!

RECYCLING
